TORNADOES IN GEORGIA AND SO. CAROLINA

Blizzard Hit Wyoming Twister Visited No. Ohio Yesterday

Atlanta, Ga., April 26—(AP)—The total known dead in the tornado-stricken sections of Georgia and South Carolina reached 71 today. Several hundred persons were injured.

Hundreds of persons were made homeless when their homes were wrecked and damage to buildings and crops will run into the thousands of dollars.

Summary of dead and injured by communities:

Cochran, 5 dead, more than 100 injured.

Dexter, 2 dead, more than 50 injured.

Metter, 25 dead, more than 100 injured.

Rentz, 1 dead, dozen injured.

Statesboro, 30 dead, more than 100 injured.

Norristown, 2 dead, several injured.

Emanuel county, 2 reported dead.

Pelzer, S. C., 3 dead.

Anderson, S. C., 1 dead.

The twisters appeared in two distinct sections. The first struck late in the afternoon near Cochran, Ga., where 17 persons were killed and more than 100 injured in collapsing homes and farm buildings. The wind then descended on Dexter, Ga., killing four and injuring 40, jumped to Rentz, Ga., where one life was lost and several persons injured, and then swept up the seaboard to reach Pelzer and Anderson, S. C.

Four were killed at Anderson, S. C. and Pelzer with more than a score injured.

Second Last Night

The second tornado struck late last night at Metter, Ga., where 12 were killed and 20 or more injured. A half dozen houses in Metter were wrecked, and 20 or more were destroyed in the nearby rural districts of Candler county. Communication facilities were destroyed at many points and relief parties feared a larger death toll when a complete check had been made.

The greatest destruction was wrought in South Georgia, sixty-five of the reported dead being in that section. The other six in the death list were in South Carolina.

Statesboro, Ga., county seat of Bulloch county, near Savannah, was the heaviest hit. The hospital there reported that more than thirty persons were dead and many others injured. A call came from Statesboro to the Georgia Board of Health for anti-tetanus serum and for nurses.

BLIZZARD IN WYOMING

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 26—(AP)—With two deaths reported and property damage in the vicinity of Cheyenne estimated at more than $100,000 it was believed here today the toll of the Wyoming blizzard would mount when communication over the storm area is reestablished.

Many motorists were stranded on the highways and no news of them had been received here since Wednesday. Highway crews are making every effort to reach them.

Stockmen feared a heavy loss of sheep.

A single telegraph wire from Cheyenne to Denver, which was repaired late last night, ended Cheyenne's isolation.

Cheyenne had the appearance of a deserted town with business at a standstill, most of the schools closed and automobile traffic paralyzed.

Snow more than a foot deep blocked downtown streets. Electrical power service was curtailed.

THREE DIE IN OHIO

Cleveland, Ohio, April 26—(UP)—A terrific wind, hail and electrical storm struck northern Ohio late yesterday killing three persons and causing damage estimated at thousands of dollars.

Mrs. Frank Schultz, Medina, died in a hospital from burns, sustained when a small chicken house in which she was working collapsed from the force of the tornado and was set afire by an oil heater.

George Hruby, 12, Cleveland newsboy, was killed by a bolt of lightning.

Mrs. Sarah H. Miller, 75, of Millington, was killed by a bolt of lightning.

Mellon's Right to Serve is Unsettled

Washington, April 26—(AP)—A division of opinion has developed in the Senate Judiciary committee on the right of Secretary Mellon to hold office in the face of an old statute forbidding the Secretary of the Treasury to be interested in trade of commerce and a special session of the committee has been called for tomorrow for a vote on the question.

Chairman Norris of the committee has joined those contending that Mr. Mellon is illegally holding office. He is ready to submit a report to this effect to the committee tomorrow and there is every indication that the question will ultimately be placed before the Senate for a final decision.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, contends that if a stockholder cannot serve as Secretary of the Treasury it will be hard to find a man for that office.

DEBENTURE SURE TO LOSE RESULT OF HOUSE'S VOTE

Lower Branch Congress Passed Hoover Bill Overwhelmingly

Washington, April 26—(AP)—A proposal to eliminate the export debenture plan from the Senate farm relief bill was made in the Senate today by Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader.

BULLETIN

Washington, April 26—(AP)—The problem of general farm relief was exclusively up to the Senate today, the House having completed the major phase of its work on the subject yesterday by passing its bill and ordering it forwarded to the other chamber.

The vote in the House—officially recorded at 367 to 34—was regarded as a clear indication that President Hoover's opposition to the export debenture plan, which is receiving vigorous support in the Senate, will be headed in the final action of Congress on the subject.

Senate leaders plan to allot only two or three more days to the general discussion of the bill before that chamber. They expect to be able to bring the debenture provision, which was voted into their bill by the Agriculture committee, to a vote by Tuesday night, and after that is disposed of obtain a vote quickly on the entire measure.

Exact Defeat

Conceding that the vote on the debenture provision will be close, the Senate leaders are convinced after a check of the membership that it will be defeated. Their latest estimate is that seven or eight Democrats will vote against the plan and that ten to 14 Republicans will vote for it. Practically no opposition to other sections of the Senate bill has been indicated.

The bill sent to the Senate by the House is regarded by administration leaders in both chambers as having the approval of President Hoover. Like the Senate bill, its principal clauses provide for the establishment of a federal farm board with a $500,000 revolving fund at its disposal to be employed largely through co-operative agencies and commodity stabilization corporations in an effort to enable the farmer to help himself toward prosperity and economic equality with workers in other industries.

The debenture provision and the equalization fee which used two McNary-Haugen bills to be vetoed, both were proposed as amendments in the House but did not come to a vote, being ruled out on points of order as representing plans of farm relief different from that under consideration.

DEMOCRATS ARE SPLIT

By PAUL R. MALLON

Washington, April 26—(UP)—A widening split appeared in Democratic ranks over the farm relief issue today as the House sent President Hoover's farm program to the Senate labeled with the extraordinary 367 to 34 majority approval. Seidom has an administration issue received such an overwhelming endorsement. Only 32 of the 166 Democrats in the House opposed it, and only two Republicans. More than 100 Democrats voted for the bill, the rest being absent.

The House vote threw dismay into Democratic ranks in the Senate. There a last stand rally was being organized behind the debenture plan. Sentiment among the Democrats of the upper house was not sufficiently strong to endorse the debenture as a party issue, but up to this time only four or five Democrats have been reported against the plan. Now there will be more.

See Hoover Winner

Sentiment over the administration bill is by no means as strong in the Senate as it was in the House, but the Senate forces of the administration have been strengthened and there is little doubt now but what the debenture fight will come to grief. The House vote is being interpreted by Senate leaders as meaning the House will not accept the debenture amendment under any conditions and they believe it indicates bipartisan sentiment is strongly favorable to the $500,000,000 co-operative marketing bill.

With the Democrats split, the farm bloc divided, and administration forces drawing closer together, it appears likely Mr. Hoover will have an opportunity within the next two or three weeks of signing a farm bill to his liking.

TRUCK, LOADED HEAVILY, TURNS OVER IN DITCH

No One Injured in Accident West of Dixon on Yesterday

A truck loaded with household goods, which was driven by H. P. Worthan of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, en route to Grand Rapids, Mich., was struck and overturned on the Lincoln Highway paving about five miles west of Dixon about 5:30 last evening. Worthan was driving east on the highway and another car driven by Mrs. W. Green of Prophetstown was meeting him going west.

A third car, east-bound, driven by former mayor, I. T. Woodruff of Polo, attempted to pass the truck, cutting in to avoid striking the Prophetstown machine and struck the front hub of the truck, turning it over on its side in the ditch. The Polo car continued east and a passenger who was riding with Worthan, halted a Clinton, Iowa, car and started in pursuit. The Polo driver was stopped and State Highway Officer Kenneth Church was sent to the scene. A report of the crash was made at the police station. No arrests were made, the damages being settled between the parties.

An Essex coach and a Ford sedan crashed at the intersection of Third street and Peoria avenue yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Margaret Kellen was driving the coach and was struck by the Ford driven by H. W. Haenisch of near Franklin Grove. Both machines were slightly damaged but the occupants were uninjured.

YANKEE RYDER CUP TEAM HAS ONE-POINT LEAD

Hagen and Golden in Final Victory to Gain Team Play

Moortown, England, April 26—(AP)—American professional golfers took a one point advantage in the four-somes of the Ryder Cup play today, winning two matches, halving one and losing one. The advantage was not decided until the final four-some returned a two up victory for Walter Hagen and John Golden over Ernest Whitcombe and Henry Cotton.

The Americans will enter the singles matches tomorrow leading 21-2 points to 11-2. Leo Diegel and El Espinosa placed the Americans ahead by winning their match to score the first point, only to have the British level it when Abe Mitchell and Fred Robson defeated Gene Sarazen and Ed Dudley.

Johnny Farrell and Joe Turnesa finished all square with Charles Whitcombe and Archie Compston and the first day's advantage then rested on the closely contested match between Hagen and Golden on one side and Whitcombe and Cotton on the other.

Eight singles matches will be played tomorrow with one point to be gained by a victory or half a point in a halved match.

Jno. I. Hildebrand, Native of Penna., Corners, is Dead

Dixon relatives of John I. Hildebrand, aged 73, of Burlington, Iowa, formerly of this community, yesterday received news of his death there, Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Hildebrand's boyhood was spent with his parents at their home at Pennsylvania Corners, and he attended the schools and grew to manhood there. Early in his majority he began work as a salesman in the agriculture implement business and for over forty years was a popular and successful salesman in Iowa and Missouri.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Irma, wife of Dr. E. J. Wehman of Burlington, Ia., and Blanche, wife of J. A. Stewart of Bernon, Tex.; and two sisters, Mrs. J. O. Winders of Deep River, Iowa, and Mrs. Blanche Barnhizer of LaVerne, Calif.

The following Dixonites will attend the funeral which will be held at Burlington Saturday afternoon: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Atkins, Mrs. Robert E. Fulton and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mumma.

TWO CONVICTED OF ASSAULT ON YOUNG WOMAN

Find Rockford Youths Guilty of Charges of Dixon Girl

(Telegraph Special Service)

Rockford, Ill., April 26—Joe Rottolo and Sam Albino were this morning found guilty of criminal assault on Miss Nellie Scott, 18-year-old Dixon girl, by a jury in Circuit Court, the former's punishment being fixed at two years in the penitentiary and the latter's at one year.

The case, which grew out of an alleged attack on the girl on a lonely road near Rockford in February, was given to the jury at 6:30 o'clock last evening and the sealed verdict, which was read when court convened at 9 o'clock this morning, was reached at 4 a. m.

Motions for a new trial were immediately made by the attorneys for the defense, and the two convicted youths are at liberty under bond of $5,000 each, which will probably be increased if the new trial is denied, for the attorneys announce in that case they will appeal.

STAGE ALL SET ANNIHILATION OF MEXICAN REBELS

Gen. Calles is Reported to Have Foe in Trap North of Sonora

Nogales, Ariz., April 26—(UP)—I. K. Vasquez, Mexican Consul here, announced today he received unofficial reports that about 1,000 rebels were killed and hundreds wounded in a battle with government troops at Navojoa, Sonora, last night.

Mexico City, April 26—(AP)—General Plutarco Elias Calles notified President Portes Gil today that the stage was set for "annihilation" of the rebel west coast army, with its retreat northward cut off by a burned bridge 18 miles north of Navojoa, Sonora.

Federal light horse, under General Joventino Espinosa, undertook a forced march last night which was expected to place it in position for a flank attack on the rebels today as the main federal army attacked them at their front.

Artillery was brought up during the night, with the prospect that airplanes would inflict heavy casualties with a new supply of 75-pound demolition bombs. No escape was believed possible.

Tables Are Turned.

The shaping up of the federal trap—with its possibilities of bloodshed even exceeding the action at La Reforma three weeks ago which General Calles described as a "veritable butchery"—came late yesterday and last night after a complete turn of the tables in southern Sonora.

For some undetermined reason the rebels, believed to number 5,000 or more, fled precipitately from Masiaca, where they were strongly entrenched yesterday. Navojoa, a former stronghold to the north, was later evacuated. Federal troops were in hot pursuit and were believed last night to have occupied Navojoa.

In the meantime a cavalry contingent under General Telichea had penetrated to the rear of the rebel force and burned a long bridge 25 kilometers north of the city before more than a few could escape. Repairs to the bridge, it was said, could not be effected before the rebels would have arrived in force for attack, while to leave the trains would be to invite easy pursuit by federal cavalry.

TOASTMASTERS MEET.

Last evening around two dozen Toastmasters sat down to a good dinner in the Christian church parlors. An unusual program was presented after a lively business session concerning the Treasurer's report. L. E. Etnyre told about the methods of torture and punishment given to prisoners taken from England to Australia on the old convict ship. B. J. Frazer read a poem and spoke on "Happiness," says that happiness is merely a state of mind. A. G. Harris ably lectured on the duties of a chairman showing that he should essentially be a leader. A number of extemporaneous speeches were given and enjoyed. A. H. Lancaster was critic for the evening, presented some good construction thoughts.

CORONER'S JURY HELD INQUESTS ON TWO BODIES

"Accidental Drowning" are Verdicts Reported Thursday P. M.

Accidental drowning, two juries yesterday afternoon determined, caused the deaths of John H. Pearson and Mrs. Elta M. Shoemaker, whose bodies were found yesterday.

Coroner Frank M. Banker conducted an inquest over the remains of Pearson, bridge worker employed by the Widell Company, who was drowned March 29, at the Staples mortuary at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At the termination of the inquest the body was sent in a sealed steel vault to his family at Mankato, Minn.

At 4 o'clock Coroner Banker conducted an inquest over the remains of Mrs. Shoemaker at the Preston mortuary. Mrs. Shoemaker was one of four persons who were drowned the night of Saturday, April 13, when the Louis Sarver automobile backed into the river at the foot of Hennepin avenue. Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Preston chapel, Rev. P. Brandt officiating and with burial in the DeWolf cemetery east of Dixon.

Two Receive Rewards.

W. P. Holland, former Sterling police officer, will receive a $50 reward offered by the Widell Company for finding the former employee body. A report gained circulation a few days after the drowning that a relative who came to Dixon from Mankato, Minn., had offered additional reward, but this could not be verified today.

Charles Wood and Edward Schoaf of Harmon will collect a reward of $25 which was offered by Commissioner Charles E. Miller of the Department of Public Health and Safety for the recovery of the three bodies drowned in the accident of April 13. Two more bodies, those of Louis Sarver and Mrs. McPherson, who figured in this tragedy have not been recovered. The body of Nick Arnstorf, a brother-in-law of John Pearson, whose body was found near Nelson yesterday, has not been recovered. The body of Ferdinand Johnson, Chicago bridge worker, who was knocked off the Nelson railroad bridge is still in the river and the body of Arthur Tungate, Dixon state hospital patient, has not been recovered.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

A force of workmen began operations this morning, excavating and clearing the vacant lot just north of the city hall, where Beier Brothers will build a new structure. The lot has been more or less of an eye sore for many months, sign boards occupying the front of the lot facing on Hennepin avenue and the remainder being cluttered with rubbish.

FUGITIVES CAPTURED

State Highway Officer Hal Roberts halted two escaped patients from the Dixon state hospital last night on East Boyd street and turned the pair over to Deputy Sheriff Fred Richardson, who returned them to the institution. The pair escaped from the jail ward Thursday morning and had been in hiding, preparatory to leaving the city for Chicago.

GETS PHEASANT EGGS

State Game Warden Henry Keister was today distributing 100 pheasant eggs in the vicinity of Dixon. The consignment was received yesterday from the state game farm at Yorkville and are to be hatched out, the birds to be released during the summer to increase the flocks of pheasants in this locality. An effort is also being made to secure several pairs of pheasants for local distribution.

WERE DISORDERLY

Three youths were arrested in Oregon yesterday afternoon and brought back to Dixon by Deputy Sheriff Fred Richardson on charges of disorderly conduct. The trio were fined $2 and costs each when arraigned before Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson.

The young men were said to have created a disturbance on the Dixon state hospital grounds at 2:30 yesterday morning by annoying women attendants.

NEGROES ON RAMPAGE

Robert Dick, colored, secured a new paring knife yesterday and after reinforcing himself with drinks from a pint bottle, started out to find liquor investigators upon whom he hoped to wreak his vengeance. In the course of his travels and searches he solicited the assistance of Crawford Coley and both negroes were arrested by Chief Van Bibber and Officer Bohnstel late yesterday afternoon. At the police station, Dick declared his bitter feeling for liquor sleuths and explained that the paring knife was intended for use upon such persons.

Dick was arraigned before Justice J. O. Shaulis in police court this morning on a charge of possessing and transporting intoxicating liquor and was fined $100 and costs. He could not meet the obligation and was sent to the county jail. His companion, Crawford Coleman, when arraigned last evening paid a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of being intoxicated.

HANNIBAL HOPEFUL

Hannibal, Mo., April 26—(AP)—The Mississippi river was up to a stage of 21.6 feet here again this morning and water was again encroaching on business houses and other buildings in blocks close to the river front.

The river was still rising and was expected by B. L. Waldron, government observer, to pass the 25-year record of 21.7 feet set a few days ago.

Reports this morning that the river had started to fall at Keokuk, Iowa, brought a possibility that the forecast of a stage of 22 feet by tomorrow might not be reached. Levees in the area were still holding.

RISES AT ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, April 26—(AP)—The Mississippi river had reached a stage of 33.6 feet at St. Louis today, a rise of 1.3 feet since yesterday, and was inundating railroad tracks and flooding a few buildings on the levee. The stage was 3.6 feet above flood level.

The Terminal Railroad Association was forced to abandon surface tracks for river-front shipping and take to an elevated line to serve the river front industrial district.

The United States Weather Bureau has forecast a river stage of 35 feet here Sunday.

Mrs. Mary McNertney of Harmon is Called

Mrs. Mary McNertney of Harmon passed away at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Garland of that village, this morning after an illness of some duration. Funeral arrangements had not been completed at an early hour this afternoon and they will be announced tomorrow.

RIVER WAGES NEW ASSAULT UPON LEVEES

Every Levee for Many Miles South of Keokuk Endangered

Quincy, Ill., April 26—(AP)—Hurricane's tremendous bulk southward in the biggest rise since 1851, the Mississippi today was waging a new assault that may break through every levee for 75 miles below Keokuk, Iowa, leave 5,000 people homeless and cause damage that might reach $5,000,000.

Residents Warned

Acting on the government observations prediction that the stage would reach 22 feet at Quincy today and might go to 22.4 feet, Sheriff Kenneth A. Elmore ordered officials of the 14,000-acre Lima Lake district, ten miles north of here, to have all families ready to move promptly in case of emergency. This district was causing the greatest worry today, with levees capable of standing only about six inches more rise, and with a foot and a half increase expected.

Twenty-five additional patrolmen went on duty there yesterday.

Many families began moving out their belongings, and others started packing in preparation for a forced exodus. At least 1,000 people live in this section.

Doubly Threatened

Acute concern was felt for the Fabius district, directly across from here in Marion and Lewis counties, Missouri. This tract is not only threatened by the Mississippi, which has punished its dikes pitilessly for weeks, but is suffering also from overflow of the North Fabis river. The area comprises approximately 17,000 acres and is occupied by about 100 families.

The 400 people in the Gregory district, across the river from the Lima Lake-Hunt section, were also preparing to evacuate almost anytime. This district consists of about 9,000 acres.

Confidence that the huge Sni district of more than 110,000 acres would be safe was fading today, following reports of three bad places in the one dike protecting it. One danger spot was opposite Cincinnati Landing,

FLOOD
THE rain comes, and the river overflows.
And land and water strive for mastery.

As in far-off ages when the sea was king, and the usurping land arose—

And now a sortie, and the booty shows

In sudden lands, snatched from husbandry.

Lagoons and coast-lines of no pedigree.

And transitory archipelagoes.

And, with the vision of a child, we take

Delight to see the old world made anew—

To find the meadow's path an alien strand.

And dream we sail with Frobisher and Drake

Through furrows of unviolated blue.

Where every cape conceals a wonderland.

Are Lovely Feminine Spring Adornments

Feathers and pearls, probably two of the most delightful of all the possible feminine adornments, are steadily mounting on fashion's horizon. One of the many accessories that subscribe to this mode is an evening bag. It is covered with tiny simulated seed pearls with Beaufrais embroidery. The frame is gilt and the ring catch is of simulated jade.

Now for feathers! Feather fans are far too graceful to remain forever out of a graceful mode, so now we have them, carried usually with gowns that lean to the long trailing silhouette, rather than the modernistic, crisper one. One fan is of yellow ostrich with orange dots and the sticks are dark amber shell. The sisters Callot even go so far as to make little wispy bracelets of feathers.

THE COMEDY AT GENEVA.

The meetings of the disarmament commission in Geneva, reported daily in all the papers at greater or less length, would be highly amusing if there was not such a grim, tragic overtone to them.

We have the spectacle, you see, of delegates from the great nations of Europe spending day after day and week after week trying to find some way to reduce their armaments, when all the while none of them really intends to do anything of the kind.

If you don't believe it, look at what happens whenever someone proposes a plan that would abolish red tape and delays and provide for a real reduction in national armies, navies and air forces.

The Russians, for instance, proposed the other day that every nation, without further ado, cut its armaments in half.

Now the motives of the Soviet delegates, quite possibly, are open to suspicion. But that suggestion for a forthright 50 per cent reduction would seem, on the face of it, to be quite reasonable. It would leave the relative positions of all nations the same; those that now have preeminence would still have it, and those that are outclassed by their rivals would be no worse off than before. And there would be real reductions.

And yet, in the face of all that, nobody needs to be told that the Russian suggestion will be allowed to die of malnutrition in the very near future.

The whole spectacle almost makes one suspect that the delegates are trying, not so much to reduce armaments, as to find ways and means of escaping doing it.

That would be quite funny, considering the intense gravity, not to say pomposity, that attends their activities, if it were not for the tragic background to the whole thing.

The very fact that the disarmament sessions are being held at all shows that every government on earth knows that its people want no more war. There are in the world too many millions of families that were thinned by the last war, too many millions of men who served in that war and are determined that such things shall not happen again.

These people, having eyes, see that the stage is being set for a new holocaust. They are striving, frantically, to avert it. The only way that occurs to them is to cut down the size of armies and navies. Hence every government is under pressure. Hence the disarmament sessions at Geneva, where the old game of international politics and intrigue has been complicated by the announcement of the plain people that they don't want to play it any more.

The spectacle would be rather funny—if it were not that many, many lives may be lost if no solution is found.

THE LUCKLESS UMPIRE.

The opening of the new baseball season brings up for study one of the most interesting of American phenomena—the almost religious fervor with which the average citizen, seated in a baseball stand, will hurl abuse at the umpires.

Everybody knows that the umpires are earnest, conscientious men, chosen because they are able and honest. Everybody knows that they can see what happens on the field far better than the man in the stands. Why, then, should they be the targets for so much criticism?

The psychologist, perhaps, could explain it easily. He would suggest, we believe, that the average man is under too much repression. At home, at the shop or office, in his automobile—everywhere, he is compelled to hold his tongue and refrain from "talking back"—whether it be to his wife, his boss, or the traffic cop.

At the ball park these repressions vanish. He can take it all out on the umpire. The accumulated soreness of a week or more can be relieved by the simple process of yelling, "Kill the big bum!"

This may be hard on the umpires, but it is probably very good for the average man's soul.

Colonel Lindbergh has changed his "I have nothing to say" policy toward reporters. The other day he told a reporter, "I haven't anything to say."

The day is coming when automobiles will be built to do more than 100 miles an hour, predicts H. O. D. Segrave. Maybe that's what some of the real estate developers mean when they advertise suburban lots "10 minutes from the heart of the city."

No one in New York has claimed as yet to be the slayer of gambler Arnold Rothstein. There are so many other ways now of getting publicity.

The man of the future will have fewer teeth, says Dr. Ales Hrdlicka. And probably won't walk the floor so much at night.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNOCK

The Tinies thanked the Thunder Man, and Scouty said, "Well, if we can, we'll leave right quick. I guess that is the safest thing to do. The clouds are black and look real bad. If we get caught it will be sad. You've surely been real kind to us. We offer thanks to you."

"Oh, that's all right, 'cause I'm your friend," the man replied. "You can depend on me to always help you. Anyway, I'll gladly try. I knew a storm was drawing near and for you tots began to fear. There's heaps of rain about to fall and flood this spacious sky."

Just then some lightning flashed in air and gave the Tinymites a scare. "Wee! Clowzy jumped and shouted. 'We must find our long-lost bird.' And then he cried: 'Here, Goofygo! We Tinymites are seeking you.' They listened, and not far away a funny noise was heard. The Thunder Man then said, 'Well

I must bid you happy lads good-bye. I know that you will be all right when you once get away. I'll have to get to work once more and make the thunder loudly roar. Believe me, it is work, my lads, and out a lot of play."

He then rowed off upon his cloud amid the waving of the crowd. "Oh, gee," said Coppy, "I would like to have a cloud like that. Just think of rowing through the air. That is a treat that must be rare. 'Tis better, far than walking on the earth which is so flat."

And then the Goofygo came near and shouted, "Hello, boys! I'm here!" The Tinymites were tickled and they shouted, "Hip, huray!" They crawled into their cabin then, and started through the air again. The Goofygo said, "Let it rain, 'cause we are on our way."

(The Tinies' cabin falls in the next story.)

Browns and Tigers were on Top in Yesterday's Major Contests

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN Associated Press Sports Writer

Rain swept all but two major league battles from the schedule yesterday, leaving only Chicago and Detroit dry enough for any activity upon the field.

The Browns shaded the White Sox by 3 to 2 and the Tigers mauled the Indians by 5 to 0. The Browns managed to step into a tie for first place with the idle Athletics, but first place at this stage of the season is nothing but a name.

What is more important than the actual position of the Browns is the pitching Sammy Gray exhibited in handcuffing the troops of Lena Blackburne. For the third time this season, the Texas Terror made a winning entry in his pitching ledger, with no defeats.

The Browns rushed at Ted Lyons for four hits and three runs in the opening round, and this assault held good all afternoon. John Clancy got one run back for the Sox in the home half of the first by driving the ball out of the lot, and a second run was scored in the fourth, but there the attack halted.

Gray Was Master The home forces totaled two more hits off Gray than the Browns collected from Lyons and his relief, George Connally, but Sammy never once let any doubt arise regarding his mastery of the situation. He passed two men, and received perfect support. Twenty-five such games as he hurled in the wind-swept reaches of Comiskey Park yesterday might make the Browns a serious pennant factor.

The contest marked the home opening of the White Sox, but it remained something of a secret. Only 10,000 of the more hardy fans were lured into the cold park.

The Detroit Tigers began their work-a-day games by overpowering the Cleveland Indians as Emil Yde pitched excellent ball. The home team stampeeded through the defense of Willis Eudlin for three runs in the first and two more in the fifth, four more than enough to win.

The Cardinals saw their home opening with Cincinnati postponed a second time, and countered with offering the season's first double-header as a Saturday attraction—first, that is, barring the morning and afternoon program always carried out in Boston on Patriots' Day. The other postponements will await the second trip for disposal.

Chicago—(UP)—Cub fans, clamoring for a National League pennant this year, were greatly cheered today at word that Gabby Hartnett, star catcher, visited Bonsetter Reese yesterday at Youngstown, and had something "snapped" into place in his right arm.

Bonsetter announced he could play immediately. Hartnett injured the arm in spring practice and has been unable to play since. He is badly needed because three other of the Cub catchers are out with injuries.

Chicago—(UP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York candidate for the light heavyweight title, and Charley Belanger, of Canada, both reported themselves in first class condition for their ten round fight tonight at the Chicago Stadium.

Milwaukee, Wis.—(UP)—Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestling champion, was thrown out of the ring three times last night, but took two straight falls from Dave Shannon and successfully defended his title. Joe Maliewicz, who meets Sonnenberg in Chicago next week, defeated Ernest Scharpege, Giant German, in the semi-windup.

Lansing, Mich.—(UP)—After an extended layoff because of an arm injury, Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, returned to the ring last night and easily outboxed Frankie Nelson of Wilmington, Del. in a non-titular exhibition.

Lexington, Ky.—(UP)—Col. E. R. Bradley's Blue Larkspur, winter book favorite for the Kentucky Derby, has proved that he is in fine condition for the American turf classic May 18.

The stalwart son of Black Servant-Blossom Time defeated five other Derby candidates at a mile and 70 yards here yesterday. Blue Larkspur's time was 1:44, two seconds slower than the track record. Clyde Van Dusen was second and Lord Bradealbane third.

Paris—(UP)—Emile (Spider) Pladner of France, European flyweight champion, has signed to meet Corporal Izzy Schwartz of New York for the world's championship at Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds, New York, July 18. Pladner will sail for the United States early in June.

Sullivan, Mo.—(AP)—With the toughest lap of the run thus far behind them the twenty eight survivors in C. C. Pyle's union derby looked today toward Rolla, Mo., for their Gil Corbett, quarterback and co-captain for next fall, is holding the ball.

LAUGHS from the DIAMOND BY BILLY EVANS

Hank O'Day, one of the greatest umpires in the history of the game, now out of active service but doing scouting work for the National League, shuns publicity. Hank would have been more than satisfied if he could have gone through life without having any one knowing him off the ball field. When the game was over he wanted to forget baseball until the next afternoon at three.

Baseball fans, on the other hand, like nothing better than a conversation with some celebrity of the game, no matter how short it may be. Ordinarily, a most agreeable person, Hank could get decidedly brusque when some inquisitive fan would seek to get all the inside dope on the day's game, or ask him to settle some foolish question.

Perhaps no one thing caused more arguments than daylight saving time. Several years ago Chicago adopted the plan, but St. Louis didn't and, as a result, there was an hour's difference in time between the two cities.

O'Day, while getting shaved in his hotel barber shop in St. Louis, was asked to settle a question as to whether or not St. Louis wasn't one hour slower than Chicago. The fan who insisted St. Louis was an hour slower than Chicago agreed to leave the matter to O'Day for a decision. No doubt the fan wanted a chance to talk to O'Day, even more than have him settle the question.

"You lose," drawled Hank. "St. Louis an hour slower than Chicago? It's 100 years slower."

THE SCOREBOARD

BY UNITED PRESS Yesterday's hero—Emil Yde, former Pittsburgh southpaw brought back from the minor leagues by the Detroit Tigers, who pitched his new team to a 5 to 0 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

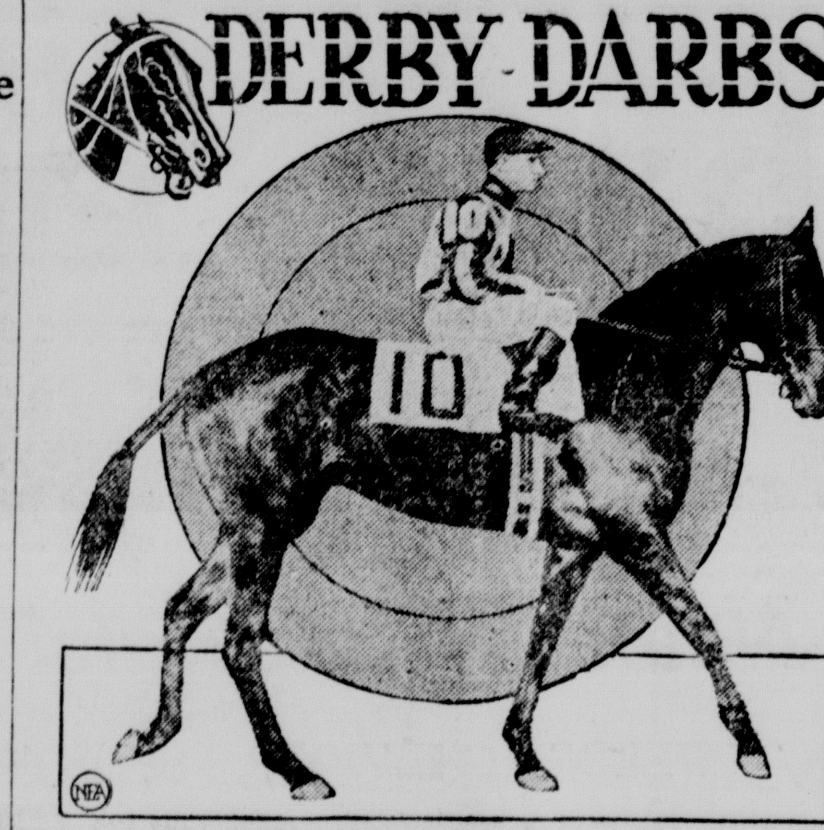

The Chicago White Sox went into undisputed possession of the American League cellar by losing their opening home game to the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 2. The victory elevated the Browns into a tie for first place with the Athletics. Sam Gray held the White Sox to eight hits and won his third game of the season. Ted Lyons was rapped for four hits in the opening inning which resulted in three runs. From then until the eighth inning the Browns did not reach first base. Bud Clancy, White Sox first baseman, hit a homer in the first inning.

Rain and wet grounds prevented all National League games and the other two scheduled American League contests.

DRAKE RELAYS DRAW STARS OF WEST TO RACES

2,600 Athletes Entered in Contests at Des Moines, Ia.

Des Moines, Ia., April 26—(AP)—Twenty-six hundred athletes, representing approximately 300 educational institutions, today vied for honors in the twentieth annual Drake University relays.

Most of the athletes arrived yesterday, no small number taking a brief but brisk workout in the stadium track in the afternoon. The rest flocked into Des Moines today at 10 o'clock today with preliminaries in the high school class B relays. The competition reaches a climax in tomorrow afternoon's finals in the university section.

There was a possibility of a new world's record in the century dash, which Bracey of Rice Institute, Elder of Notre Dame, Timm of Illinois, Wilcox of Kansas and Toland of Michigan are entered and there was the probability that either Warner of Northwestern or Canby of Iowa, not to mention Ottensmeyer of Minnesota, McDermott of Illinois, Soules of Iowa State, McAtee of Michigan State, might break the drake record of 13 feet in the pole vault and scale to newer heights.

Portness of Northwestern and Gordon of Iowa were set for a dual in the broad jump if they are able to shake off such opposition as Simon of Illinois, Thompson of Nebraska, Rourke of Notre Dame, and Larson of Wisconsin. The high hurdles, likewise, boasted a sensational field, including Lamson of Nebraska, Taylor of Grinnell, Hager of Iowa State, Haydon of Chicago, Allison and Saling of Iowa, and Rodgers and Sentman of Illinois.

3300 Athletes Will Compete at Phila.

Philadelphia, April 26—(AP)—More than 3300 Athletes from 500 colleges and high schools were here today for tests of speed and stamina at the University of Pennsylvania's track and field carnival. The two-day meet has drawn entries from all sections of the United States and from Hawaii and Canada.

Interest today centered chiefly on the decathlon, the high hurdles, the college medley relays and the appearance of Paavo Nurmi, the Phantom Finn, who hoped to set up new records for the two and three-mile events.

Keen competition was forecast in the decathlon, with Tom Churchill, Oklahoma, and Barney Berlinger, Pennsylvania, the favorites among a dozen other all-around performers.

HILDRETH BACK AT OLD STUNTS WINNING RACES

Rancocas Stables Will be Feared on Turf This Season

BL ORLO ROBERTSON Associated Press Sports Writer...

New York, April 26—(AP)—"Uncle Sam" Hildreth is back in his favorite game—that of winning horse races.

To the casual sports patron such a statement may mean little, but to the devotee of the ponies it means that he Rancocas Stable of Harry Sinclair will be feared wherever its thoroughbreds are sent to the post.

Samuel Clay Hildreth has been saddling winners on the American turf for more than a quarter of a century, rising from the position of a jockey booting home winners on western quarter mile tracks to a ranking place among thoroughbred trainers. When the mighty Zev was making a show of America's and England's best in 1923, it was Hildreth who saw the horse was always in perfect condition. That year ended the three-year reign of the Rancocas stable as the leading money winning stable of the country.

Many of his friends said Hildreth was through last year, when an extended illness forced his retirement from active training of the Sinclair runners. But "Uncle Sam" is back after wintering on the Sinclair estate in New Jersey. He celebrated his return by saddling three winners and two place horses on the first two days of racing at Jamaica.

The thirty-seventh renewal of the Peckness stakes will be run at Pimlico May 10 with 94 nominations, including nearly every leading three-year-old in the country.

The entry this year consists of nine fillies and 85 colts.

Daily Health Talk

By HORACE W. SOPER, M. D., St. Louis, Missouri. (This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1321 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

All newspaper readers know that one should avoid draughts, exposure, and the like, in the prevention of colds, gripe and influenza. Knowledge of the contagiousness of the maladies is pretty well disseminated. For instance, a sneezing waitress or cook may infect a whole household. Infectious material is often carried to the mouth and nostrils by unclean hands. It has been demonstrated by experiments that small particles of sputum carrying infectious material may be projected by coughing for a distance of three feet.

When you are necessarily exposed to a draught, and feel that a cold is impending, brace yourself, breathe deeply and contract the muscles of the neck and chest.

A simple but effective method of prevention was proposed by the writer in the great flu epidemic of 1918. Vaseline is snuffed up into the nostrils freely every night at bedtime. Vaseline is not a culture medium for bacteria. In other words, the germs that produce colds, gripe and influenza will not grow in the presence of vaseline. Therefore, the growth of these organisms is discouraged during the night when the secretion from the mucous lining "puddles out" in the sinuses. All of us inhale during the day particles of dust and carbon that carry the germs. They get a chance to multiply in the air passages during sleep and the infection results. Vaseline finds its way more slowly into the sinuses and forms a more efficient protective agent than the usual sprays and washes. Moreover, it has the advantage of being a non-irritant. The nostrils are thoroughly cleansed by it, as evidenced by the material that is blown out in the morning. The water solutions are to be condemned because they irritate and congest the mucous membrane in many individuals.

This simple measure has been successful in hundreds of cases. A woman wrote me after the epidemic of 1918 as follows: "Our town had warning of the approach of the scourge and divided into two camps, the vaseline group and the serum advocates. Many who had used preventive serum injections contracted the disease and six died of pneumonia. On the other hand, but one member of the vaseline crowd contracted the disease, and it afterward developed that he had not used it faithfully."

A business man had two establishments which employed several hundred of people. No preventive measure was used in building No. 1. In the other building all the employees were given tubes of vaseline with instructions as to its use. The vaseline building had fifty per cent less cases of flu among the employees than the untrained one.

Our nurses in the flu and gripe wards have learned to use the vaseline in the nostrils while on duty.

The simplicity is presented because of its method, cheapness and effectiveness.

CATTLE BUILD AIRSHIPS

Akron, O.—The small tough section in the intestine of a steer known as "gold-beater's skin," will aid largely in the construction of the two 6,500,000 cubic foot airships to be built here for the U. S. Navy. This portion of 1,500,000 cattle will be used because of its great strength, lightness of texture and because it permits less diffusion of gas than any other known substance. It has been used in the making of gold leaf.

Good Thoughts for Good People

Paul counseled, "Whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." This view of work as activity conformed to God's rule of perfection begins at once to remove any sense of dissatisfaction or hopelessness by purging away the false desire for merely material success, and by awakening the love of and the desire for spiritual good and the expectancy of attaining—though it may be step by step—unto a true expression of right and satisfying activity.

Though it is not yet confirmed, May 5 is Visitation Day, when the Reverend George Krueger of Clinton, Iowa, meets with us to discuss ALMOST half a century has elapsed since a raging forest fire in the Northwestern states called into action the infant American Red Cross, newly created by the Congress of the United States under President Arthur, and thus set into motion a relief organization which since has brought relief in 938 domestic disasters with an expenditure of almost $30,000,000.

In the ensuing years the Red Cross has adopted methods and plans of relief which have kept abreast of every scientific achievement. The wagon and team bearing the messengers of mercy in the days of the forest fire are supplanted by the fleet motor truck cavalcade; the heroic courier on horseback bringing word of death and devastation gives way to the radio operator, whose cry for help reaches far and wide; the distressed in the isolated village, swept by fire, flood or epidemic, now turn to the sky where a great silver bird, the airplane, brings them renewed courage and help from the outside world.

To the small branch of the Red Cross in Danville, New York, in 1882, is given the credit for the first disaster relief in quickly collecting clothes and obtaining money to send to the suffering men, women and children in the forest fire district.

The baptism of the infant Red Cross disaster relief organization was by fire, and before it was out of its cradle wind and flood were to follow. The distress caused by these elements has almost continuously occupied the attention of a large number of Red Cross workers in the forty-eight years since it was organized in 1882.

In an historical summary of Red Cross disaster relief work, prepared for the revised relief manual, "When Disaster Strikes," just issued by the American Red Cross at Washington to its 3,500 chapters, the three groups of calamities appearing most frequently in the list of 938 were as follows: cyclones, tornadoes, hurricanes and other storms, 231; fires, 131; floods, 126.

Aid in Grasshopper Plague

Varied have been the misfortunes visited upon peoples and communities which have required assistance from the Red Cross. In the earlier days were the prevalent cricket and grasshopper plagues in the Middle West, which almost annually wiped out the resources of the pioneering wheat farmers. Then there were the prairie and the forest fires, the latter sweeping away great stretches of magnificent virgin timber in the Northern and Western states, and causing terror-stricken men, women and children to flee before the flames. Droughts were of frequent occurrence in Texas and Western communities, and our problems and give whatever advice we need. He is the official representative of our synod.

May 5 is also "Ladies' Aid Day." Every member of the Aid should be ready to sit in a group in a section reserved for them. The subject of the sermon will be, "Woman's Place in the Church."

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Cor. 2nd & Madison

B. C. Whitmore, Pastor

The little white Friendship church invites and welcomes you. Don't you hear its service calling? Anyhow, ask yourself some questions. As a church member, "What would the church be like if all church members were just like me?" Or as a citizen,

"What would the community and the world be like if all the people were just like me?" If not a Christian, would you like to live where there are no churches? If so, why don't you move to Africa? Every person within a hundred miles of a church derives benefit from it. Then is it not only fair that everyone should halfstorms sometimes visited the farming regions.

All left trails of dead and the living in distress with wasted resources behind them and the young Red Cross, growing in strength and efficiency each year, was early upon the scene, giving food, clothing and other necessities; housing the homeless and treating the injured and sick.

The increased density of population has materially altered the consequences of certain types of disasters. Had the Florida hurricanes of 1926 and 1928 struck that peninsula even twenty years ago, relatively little distress to people would have followed—as that was before the growth of the magnificent coast resort cities.

Floods of the Mississippi River and its tributaries meant little in 1717, when De La Tour, the engineer, laid out the city of New Orleans, but nevertheless to protect its early settlers he built the levee. As lands were claimed from the virgin forest and settlers moved upstream, the levee system was extended in a desultory way, but it was not until 1858 that great loss of life and property followed from the Mississippi going on the rampage.

Through experience gained almost month by month in combating the evils attendant upon these bursts of calamity, the Red Cross built up gradually plans for giving emergency help, and then came the equally important task of rehabilitation of the broken lives and the devastated communities.

The culmination of these plans, incorporating the usefulness of such marvelous aids to the stricken as the radio, the motor car and the airplane is incorporated in the new booklet, "When Disaster Strikes." It takes to the ten thousand communities in which the Red Cross has chapters or branches the latest methods for organizing resources so that should the inevitable day arrive when calamity befalls its people the community will have within itself a group of citizens prepared to give emergency help and to handle the situation to preserve life and prevent further material loss.

No Community Immune

No community is immune to great disasters of one type or another, the manual shows. One pre-requisite measure that can be adopted is a survey of the surrounding country, with the assistance of engineers and other experts, to determine the type of disaster to which the section is subject. Hazards resulting from the presence of rivers and lakes, mines, munition factories and other industries wherein dangers from explosions and fires may exist are singled out for special consideration.

they may be good morally; lost because they do not know the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour. Are you saved?

GRACE EVANGELICAL CHURCH

North Side

Rev. Frank Brandteller, Pastor.

Christ Died For Our Sins.

Sunday Services:

9:30 Prayer Circle.

9:45 Church Bible School. Supt. Lee Lincoln. We have classes for all ages. A welcome awaits you.

10:45—Morning worship. The pastor will preach his farewell message.

6:45—Christian Endeavor service.

7:45 Evangelistic Service. The closing message of the pastor will be given on the subject, "The Sure Foundation and the Believer's Hope."

The pastor is closing his sixth year of work here upon which the blessing of God has been manifest.

Each one of us is building a life. But how? Is it for God? Either we are living for God's glory, according to the requirements of His Word, or we live for self and worldly glory, which is for this life only.

Jesus said, "Whosoever heareth these sayings of mine and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock."

The greatest business is the work of spreading the Gospel of Christ's love and salvation. It is the business of the layman who loves Christ as well as the preacher. Every Christian should feel a personal responsibility to win souls to Christ. Do you feel a real concern for the lost souls of men? Souls are lost, away from God the loving Father, lost through the morning hour of worship at ten forty five. The pastor's subject will be "The Supremacy of Jesus." The anthem number by the chorus choir will be "The Earth Is The Lord's" by Hamilton. The second number will be a ladies sextette who will sing, "For Thee, O Dear, Dear Country," taken from the Holy City by Gaul.

The evening service at seven-thirty. The special music will be furnished by a mixed quartet who will sing "Vesper Hymn" by Rathbun.

The High School League will meet at six thirty.

The regular monthly meeting of the Official Board will be held next Monday evening at seven thirty.

When a hurricane blows out of the sea, or a cyclone rushes across prosperous communities; a conflagration destroys a great area, or an S.O.S. signals a ship in distress—these are occasions upon which the national Red Cross desires that its component groups—the Chapters—be prepared with trained personnel and proper supplies to respond.

First Great Disaster

The first great disaster in the United States which called into action the united forces of the American Red Cross occurred in 1889—eight years after the Red Cross had been organized. The early Red Cross reports state: "A few days after the Johnstown flood of May 31 and June 1, in which 2,209 lives were lost, Miss Clara Barton, president of the American National Red Cross Association, with a corps of assistants, went to Johnstown and entered into work. . . . For a while quartered in tents, she soon erected warehouses and offices and until October 30 she continued actively engaged in the distribution of supplies. The Philadelphia branch of the Red Cross society sent a corps of physicians who established and conducted a hospital at their own expense until late autumn."

Less than a decade afterward, all of the power and resources of the growing organization were to stand a terrible strain. Californians had evinced an interest in the Red Cross and were preparing to organize. So on the afternoon of April 17, 1906, Judge William W. Morrow, Federal jurist and one of the original incorporators of the American Red Cross, called a meeting to organize the California State Board of the American Red Cross. In the early society, the groups were organized by states. Judge Morrow made a remark that afternoon which he had occasion to reconsider in his few hours. The men had met in his office at 5 o'clock and after two hours talk the gathering broke up, and Judge Morrow remarked, with easy optimism:

Matters of extraordinary importance carried over from the specially called meeting of last Tuesday evening will be further considered. These matters demand the presence of every member of the Official Board.

The mid-week service on Wednesday evening at seven thirty. The pastor will continue his study of the epistle to Timothy. The fourth and fifth chapters will be studied next Wednesday evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will be held at the home of Mrs. H. A. Ahrens, 319 Peoria Ave., next Thursday afternoon at two thirty. The women of the church are heartily invited to this meeting.

A general meeting of the Hook River Valley section of the Joliet-Dixon District will be held in the Fourth Street Methodist church at Sterling on Friday afternoon and evening of next week. Dinner will be served at six thirty. The address of the evening will be given by Prof. W. S. Scherhorn of Garret Biblical Institute at Evanston. The special music will be furnished by the chorus choir of the First Methodist church of Dixon. The members of the local church are invited and urged to be present at this meeting.

Where 2,000 lives were lost—this 40-year-old photograph shows the Johnstown, Pa., flood of 1889, where the Red Cross faced its first great relief task.

CLARA BARTON who carried relief in the name of the Red Cross to every disaster in early days.

Modern magic—radio and airplane—now enlisted to save lives in disaster. Radio operator in Mississippi Valley flood of 1927 directing relief work.

The aftermath of disaster is disease and the prevention is inoculation. Medical personnel and Red Cross nurses faced stupendous tasks in Porto Rico, following hurricane of 1928.

Demonstration of U. S. Army air-ground code perfected for Red Cross in order to communicate with isolated communities.

"Well, you will probably have nothing to do except to meet here once a year and keep in touch with the National organization in Washington."

In the gray dawn of April 18, the improbable happened. An earthquake the duration of which was about one minute, left the city powerless to supply light, heat, water or drainage. There was no water for fire protection, no transportation. Thirty fires were estimated to have started immediately—and what the earthquake started, the flames finished. The known dead were 304 and the unknown 194. There could be no estimate of the homeless, as virtually the entire city was without shelter.

While the citizens were holding their first meeting to determine upon relief measures and the U. S. Army was helping to fight the fire, two Red Cross men were speeding across the continent from Chicago.

Floods in the Mississippi Valley had engaged the attention of the Society from its early formation. In 1853 "the greatest flood" had occurred, but again in 1874, and in 1911 and in 1927 "the greatest flood" has occurred.

The Radio Aids

The aid of the radio and the airplane, and of great fleets of power boats, prevented great loss of life in the latest great flood of 1927, but the economic loss to the residents of the Valley was beyond estimate. A generous American public, appalled as it read day by day the slow progress of the mighty flood downstream, breaking all barriers of levees before it, to spread destruction for miles inland, gave the sum of $498,992 through the Red Cross for relief of the victims.

Local Red Cross Chapters in Florida demonstrated exceptional preparedness for emergency during the September hurricane of 1928.

Organized originally to help in the Miami storm of 1926, the committees were perfected so that when the hurricane of September 1928 struck the coast near the Palm Beaches, the organization functioned perfectly. With first warning from the Weather Bureau and the Red Cross headquarters at Washington that the hurricane was headed toward Florida, after having struck in the Virgin Islands, Porto Rico, and other islands in the Caribbean Sea, the committees were called together, headquarters established, notices were given to citizens to seek shelter in public buildings, churches, etc., and scouts were dispatched with warnings to outlying communities. After the storm had struck, the committees set to work providing better, food and necessities and setting up a hospital. Refugees were gathered, and the enormous burden of burying the 1,800 dead was undertaken.

In the four most recent major disasters the expenditures by the American National Red Cross for relief totaled $29,188,908.63, and of these expenditures $1,333,201.18 came from the treasury of the Red Cross. Only in time of major disasters such as the hurricanes in Florida and the West Indies, and the floods in New England and the Mississippi Valley, does the Red Cross, usually through proclamation by the President of the United States, ask the public to contribute a relief fund. For all disasters where fewer people are affected and their material losses are not so huge, the Red Cross furnishes relief funds from its own resources.

Late Czar's Cousin, Duke Michael, Died In London This Morning

London, April 26—(AP)—Grand Duke Michael of Russia, cousin of the late Czar, died here this morning.

Grand Duke Michael suffered an attack of influenza late in the winter which left him weak.

The Grand Duke was for years an important figure in London society and smart Anglo-American circles on the Riviera where he spent a part of his time.

In 1891 he contracted a morganatic marriage with Countess Torby at San Remo and they lived together devotedly until her death in London September, 1927.

Their two daughters married into the British nobility.

They also had a son, Count Michael Torby.

On the continent Michael was known as "Miche-Miche," a nickname which was in odd comparison to his imposing soldierly appearance.

GOV. LONG ENJOYED HIS PARTY, DANCER SPILLS THE BEANS

Held Hula Girl on His Lap and Was Frisky on a Settee, is Charge

Baton Rouge, La., April 25—(AP)—Governor Huey P. Long, played up in the evidence as "frisky with a woman on a settee" at a French-town studio party in New Orleans, had ended his state-wide speaking tour today with a final rebuke on the Standard Oil Company and the senate was ready to meet to make arrangements to try him on impeachment charges of general official misconduct.

With seven charges of impeachment voted against him—two alleging bribery and intimidation and five misapplication of state funds—the House took a spirited plunge into a hula hula entertainment for the Governor given by A. D. Danziger, president of the New Orleans Association of Commerce, during last Mardi Gras.

Fondled Hula Dancer

Testimony given by witnesses on the party in Mr. Danziger's studio-theater conflicted only in minor details. A good time was had by all. Drinks were served and the hula dancer who performed barefoot and in a straw skirt testified that she sat in the Governor's lap with the official arm around her neck.

The evidence was admitted under the count charging Long with gross misconduct in public places. Helen Clifford, the hula entertainer, said she sat on the Governor's lap with "his arm around my neck."

"Everybody was drinking," she said, and the Governor "had plenty."

"Come Here Huey"

Miss Clifford remarked that the Governor danced under the rim of a cocktail glass but that he spent most of his time on a settee with a woman who called to him "come here Huey."

"He played with her hair. He was admiring it," she said.

First public mention of the party which occurred on the night of a military raid against alleged open gambling near New Orleans broke with publication in the newspapers on an affidavit by Miss Clifford.

The Governor left the studio before the party was over to direct the troop raid from his hotel suite and it was noised about at the time that a cabaret entertainer at the party slipped a tip to the gambling interests but a trooper answered the telephone.

Imagine yourself popping a bushel of CORN at One time—what would it taste like?

SOME kernels would be popped—some burnt—some unchanged. A little at a time is the only way to pop corn. And by roasting coffee by their patented, continuous process—a few pounds at a time, instead of in bulk—Hills Bros. roast every berry evenly. The result—you taste a flavor no other coffee has.

HILLS BROS COFFEE

White? Not these clothes!

THERE was plenty of soap. The clothes were scrubbed thoroughly, and rinsed. But the water was hard. The soap mixed with the hard water, and formed a dirty ring around the basin—scum! The scum got into the fabric of the clothes. That's why the clothes weren't clean.

But they can be clean. How? By washing them in soft water. And how can hard water be made soft? By adding MeLo. The water is now a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap; and the soap much more effective. Get a can today at your grocer's.

CLYDE VAN DUSEN

Man O' War never was started in a Kentucky Derby, but there is a grandson of this famous thoroughbred entered for the race this year that may lead Blue Larkspur, Roughish Eye and other favorites to the finish. Clyde Van Dusen is the entry with Man O' War blood. Owned by H. P. Gardner he is considered a most dangerous entry. There were periods when he ran poorly as a two-year-old, but this was offset by brilliant showings, especially his victory in the Kentucky Jockey Club stakes. He won this mile event in 1:38 1/4, with the track slow. He started 17 times as a two-year-old, winning eight firsts, finishing second twice, third twice and being unplaced four times. He was listed as a 10-1 shot in the winter books.

To Keep Liberty Bell From Falling

The braces which have held up the Liberty Bell for more than a hundred years have shown signs of weakening. So now workmen are busy in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, and are pictured here installing new supports under the famous bell which "proclaimed Liberty throughout the land" in 1776.

3-Day-Old Baby Weighs 22 Pounds

NEA

Here is mine—or, pardon us, his—Willard Dempsey Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Howard of Huntington, W. Va. The boy, who is shown with his mother, was named after his father's two favorite heavyweights. He weighed 20 pounds at birth and three days later had picked up two more pounds. He is the Howard's 16th child.

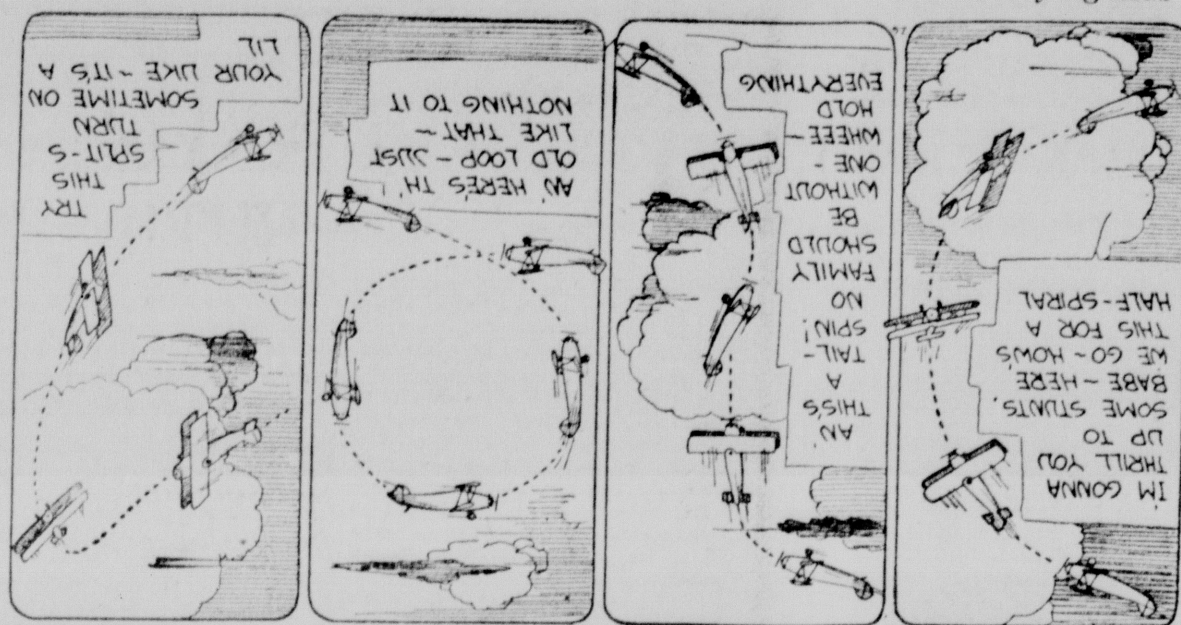

Trotsky Rides—But Not Far

NEA

Russia exiled him. Germany branded him a "harmful influence." Norway is "afraid" to admit him. Other nations are cocking dubious eyes at him. And now Leon Trotsky, a founder of the Soviet Republic, has succeeded to the title of "a man without a country." The rarely pictured political outcast here is shown, minus his familiar beard, motoring with his wife through the streets of Constantinople.

NEVER AN EQUAL FOR GLY-GAS IN YEARS OF AGONY

Facing Terrors of Operation When She Got this Amazing Herbal Remedy.

"In 9 long years of suffering I have never found a medicine like Gly-Gas and that means even more than it seems, because I had spent lots of money and tried literally all kinds of treatments before. Mrs. Ida Snowden, respected resident of Middletown, Ohio, living at the corner of Georgetown and Yankee Avenues, that city, recently said:

MRS. IDA SNOWDEN.

"I had never been actually free of pain in the past 9 years," she continued, "and finally my back got to hurting so I couldn't bear to lie on it and my whole system was miserably rundown. Began to have headaches and limbs pained and swelled until I could hardly stand on them. In the mornings, after a restless night of pain I was just all tired out and I happened to stoop over, couldn't see anything for a while—those dizzy spells were terrible. After I'd spent money and tried all kinds of medicines was told I must have an operation. I didn't know what to do, but Gly-Gas was doing my sister so much good that she insisted I get some and take it and I was one surprised person when I realized this wonderful medicine was helping me. To my delight, I knew the awful back misery was easing up, that I wasn't having so much dizziness and swelling in my feet was also being relieved. I kept on getting better and now, for the first time in 9 years, I'm free from backache, dizzy spells are ended and feet and limbs have ceased to hurt at all. The yellowish tint is gone from my complexion, I rest well and have gained in weight. I honestly feel no more like the same woman than anything and I tell you, Gly-Gas is wonderful. Never in all the years of my suffering have I found anything like it."

Gly-Gas is sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, Sold Franklin Grove, G. S. Ives; Polo, C. R. Clothier; Ashton, G. R. Charters; Amboy, Ashtonbrenner Drug; Compton, W. H. Hills; Rochelle, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.—Adv.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MILDRED LAWRENCE meets STEPHEN ARMITAGE when he rescues her fox for from a thief. Their friendship grows until PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of Mildred's employer, tries to lure him away from her. HUCK CONNOR becomes infatuated with Pamela and she plays both men. Her brother, HAROLD, is in love with Mildred, who tries to keep him from gambling with Huck's crowd.

When Stephen continues seeing Mildred, Pamela cables her father to discharge her. Harold tries to prevent this but fails. Pamela succeeds in turning Stephen against Mildred and the latter faces dreary days in search of work. Then Pamela tries to break with Huck and when he objects tells him she and Stephen are engaged. She begs Stephen to confirm the engagement.

Huck commands Harold to prevent Pamela's marriage under fear of exposure concerning a forged check. Harold says he can't force Pamela so Huck plans to dispose of Stephen. He has one of his gang frame Stephen for stealing one of his firm's demonstration cars, and the detective thinks the evidence against him sufficient when he finds Stephen apparently giving a big party that night to announce his engagement to Pamela.

Harold confesses enough to Mildred to reveal to her that Stephen is in danger of Huck's scheming. In desperation she decides to make an effort to save him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVIII

MILDRED was still without a position. She was free to seek Huck Connor at any time, but household duties kept her at home throughout the morning. And by afternoon, when she went to the Judson and asked for him, it was too late. He was out of town, she was told. No, he had not said when he would return.

Huck had gone to a town a few miles up the Hudson river where a retired gangster kept a convenient hideaway camouflaged as a chicken farm. He had business with the proprietor, one Ras Poberlin.

On her way from the hotel Mildred passed the Mettle Agency, and though she would not allow her steps to slow she could not keep from glancing through the plate-glass window, hoping for a glimpse of Stephen.

Naturally she did not see him as he was even then headed for J. B.'s place under Lefty Flint's malign direction.

Mildred told herself it was better not to see him, but as she hurried on she was conscious of a keen disappointment. Her heart ached for sight of Stephen and even her pride, great as it was, could not moderate the desire.

There were other things besides thoughts of Stephen to occupy her mind, however, and Mildred was too conscientious to neglect them. She must make a few calls where it was possible she might obtain a position.

The outlook at home was becoming gloomy. The small income derived from a cautious investment of the insurance money her father had left was insufficient to meet the bills.

"I must have a job," Mildred told herself worriedly. "If we fall behind with the rent and get into debt there won't be even so much as a trip to Coney Island on Sundays for our vacation this summer."

SHE could not help feeling bitter toward Pamela at that moment. Once on a hot, humid day, she had been sent to the Judson boat where it was anchored in the breeze-swept Sound to do some work for the owner. It had been Paradise to her luxury starved senses.

The unexpected warmth of the present day brought it back to her mind. Well, Stephen had tasted of that luxury. She didn't blame him so much . . . but, of course, he was in love with Pamela, in spite of her brutal selfishness.

Mildred could picture her curled up on her lacy pillows, commanding that even her slightest whim be satisfied. "While I walk the streets looking for work," was Mildred's bitter reflection. The injustice of it still smarted. She was efficient, capable, but on a parasitic creature's wish she had been treated as though her worth in the world were of no more account than a fly's.

Her resentment clung as the day wore away and she was still numbered among the unemployed. She knew that it might be weeks yet before she found a position. Chance was such a large element in this matter in New York. People nursed big opportunities by a hair's breadth, others stumbled upon them when they were not wanted.

Mildred was genuinely worried. Her mother noted her downcast expression when she returned home and made her lie down a few minutes before dinner.

Mildred had had to tell her mother that she'd lost her position at the Judson Hotel but she did not reveal her concern for the immediate future.

It was not just his alone that troubled her, her mother knew, for Connie had told her of Stephen's engagement to Pamela.

Mildred came out to the kitchen in time to broil the hamburger cakes and fix the salad. Connie was cutting up some cold boiled potatoes. "How much butter?" she asked, when she went to the cupboard for a frying pan.

"Butter!" her mother exclaimed. "Use the fat drippings. And you needn't have peeled the potatoes. The skin is healthful when it's nice and clean."

Connie groaned. "You can bet I'm going to marry a big butter-and-egg man," she said determinedly. "I hate fat drippings."

ORDINARILY Mildred would have given her a little slyly advice after such a remark, but tonight the older girl was preoccupied and silent.

Connie decided not to pester her, but before she fell asleep that night she was aware that Mildred was crying soundlessly, and it was all she could do to keep from blurting out her contempt for Stephen.

For Stephen it was a night of pleasure, unshadowed by any omen of what awaited him on the morrow.

It was daybreak when he unlocked his door and let himself into his room.

He hurried to undress and get some sleep before going to the office, but sleep would not come to him. Now that he was alone his troubles returned like a flock of vultures to pick at his peace.

Pam in a flash! Pam in a kitchen apron! Pam in the balcony at the theater! Pam in the subway! He couldn't see it. But hang it all, she knew he'd make good with her to work for. He'd have to. He couldn't expect her to go on living in what would, to her, be abject poverty.

What a girl she was! She certainly could put life into a party. Not that her friends were dull, but Pam led them all. She'd been as sparkling and as gay when he took her home as when they first reached Margola's party.

He dozed off finally, and with the thought in his mind that he was a lucky devil to be loved by a girl like Pam.

It seemed only a moment before his alarm clock woke him with its inconsiderate summons.

He hurried to be at the office early. He could get off some letters to certain of his prospects who needed a reminder of their promise to come in and inspect the new models.

Mr. Mettle came in late. He greeted Stephen with a sour face and a skippy nod.

Stephen worked like a Trojan that morning, using his utmost skill to get out of his prospects who needed a reminder of their promise to come in and inspect the new models.

DR. SCHACHT GETS BLAME FOR GERMAN MONEY SITUATION

French Newspapers Blame
Germans for "Plot"
by Banks

Paris—(AP)—Severe French criticisms of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, for his failure to take steps to prevent depletion of the bank's gold reserve led today. It was learned in responsible financial circles that a raise of from 6 1/2 to 7 1/2 percent in its discount rate.

The French newspapers, voicing the views of responsible financiers, insinuated and openly charged that he was seeking to make the German economic situation appear precarious and unstable as justification for his plea for lower reparations.

This, it was said, he was able to do by refraining so long from a raise in the discount rate which would have tended to check withdrawal of gold and foreign currency from the bank. This withdrawal recently had taken such proportions as even to threaten stability of the mark, and—under the transfer clause—make possible postponement of the Dawes plan reparations annuities.

It was understood Dr. Schacht would go to Berlin Monday or Tuesday of next week to attend a general board meeting of the Reichsbank, however, as the discount rate is the province of the bank management he might have given his approval to the raise today over the telephone.

Close to Legal Minimum.

There were suggestions after the meeting of the reparations transfer committee yesterday that S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, would ask the Reichsbank to raise its rate to check the drain of its gold reserve, which was said to have reached within $25,000,000 of its legal minimum. This depletion threatened to bring into operation the Dawes plan transfer clause which could postpone indefinitely a part or all of the reparations annuities.

Mr. Gilbert, however, in a statement today denied that either he or the Dawes plan transfer committee, had expressed an opinion to Dr. Schacht with reference to a raise in the Reichsbank discount rate.

LAUNCH NEW CRUISER
New York, April 25—(AP)—Uncle Sam's newest cruiser, The Pensacola, was launched at the Brooklyn navy yard today.

As the war craft glided gracefully down the ways from the forest of scaffolding which had engulfed her, Mrs. Josephine Knowles Seligman of Roslyn, Long Island, a native of Pensacola, broke a bottle of spring water over her bows, exclaiming: "I christen thee Pensacola."

The Pensacola, 10,000 tons, is the largest ship to be launched at the navy yard since the war. Her ultimate cost will be $11,000,000.

Brides-to-be should look at our beautiful samples of Wedding Invitations and announcements. We have the newest and most exclusive designs. B. F. Shaw Printing Co. 11

President Hoover Given the Highest Engineering Award

President Hoover Given the Highest Engineering Award

Washington, April 25—(UP)—President Hoover today received the highest award of the engineering world, the John Fritz gold medal conferred jointly by the four principal technical societies of the nation.

The award in previous years has been conferred upon Alexander Graham Bell, Thomas Edison, General George W. Goethals, Orville Wright, Guglielmo Marconi and others. The presentation ceremonies were at the White House, under the joint auspices of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

"On the testimony of his record," said the formal citation, "Hoover's engineer colleagues have awarded him their highest honor for notable scientific and industrial achievements, as engineer, scholar, organizer of relief to war-stricken peoples, public servant."

One of the conspicuous items in the list of scientific contributions made by the chief executive during his long career as mining engineer was his translation from medieval Latin of Agricola's classical treatise "De Re Metallica" originally published in 1556 and never before translated into English. It was perhaps the first printed treatise on mining and metallurgy.
